A gadget for finding the line that best fits a series of data points